GRUNGE COMICS

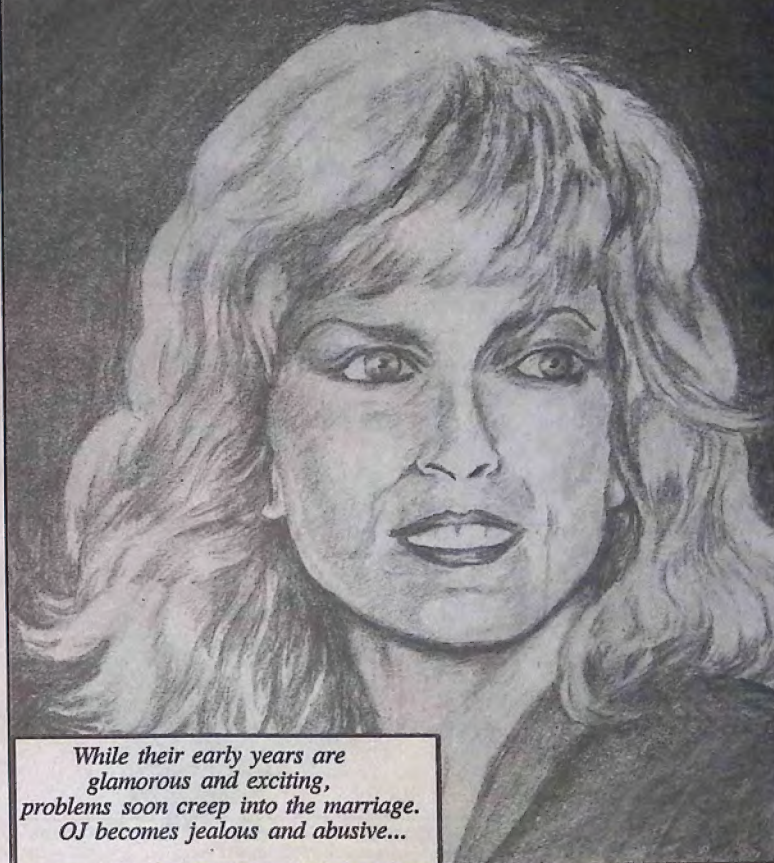

PRESENTS

Grunge Comics #1 --- From First Amendment Publishing.

Nicole Brown was born and raised in sunny Southern California. A school favorite and homecoming queen, her high-school classmates all assumed she would become a model or actress...

After high school, however, Nicole starts work as a waitress. In 1977, the 18-year old Nicole meets pro football great OJ Simpson. Within a year, they're living together, and in 1984 they're married.

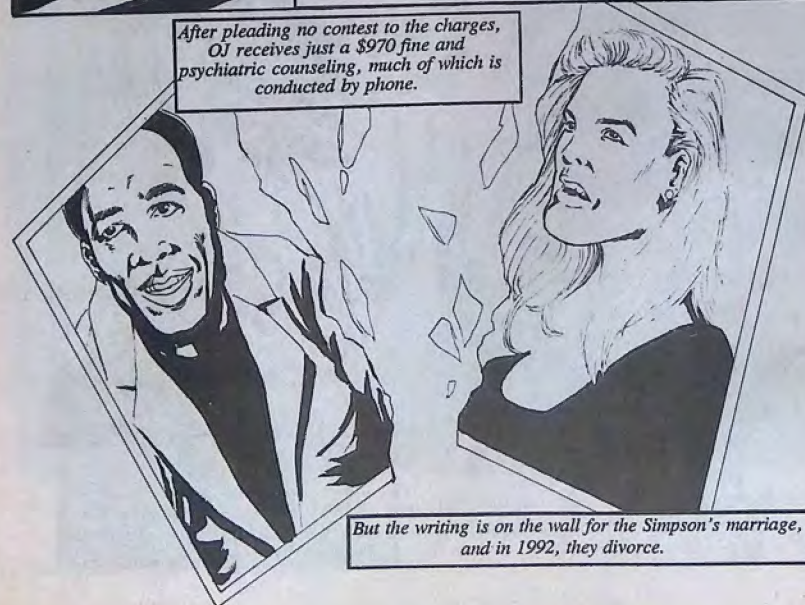

While their early years are glamorous and exciting, problems soon creep into the marriage. OJ becomes jealous and abusive...

....And after several years, the abuse finally goes public. On New Year's Day, 1989, the police answer a domestic violence call at the Simpsons. It's not the first time.

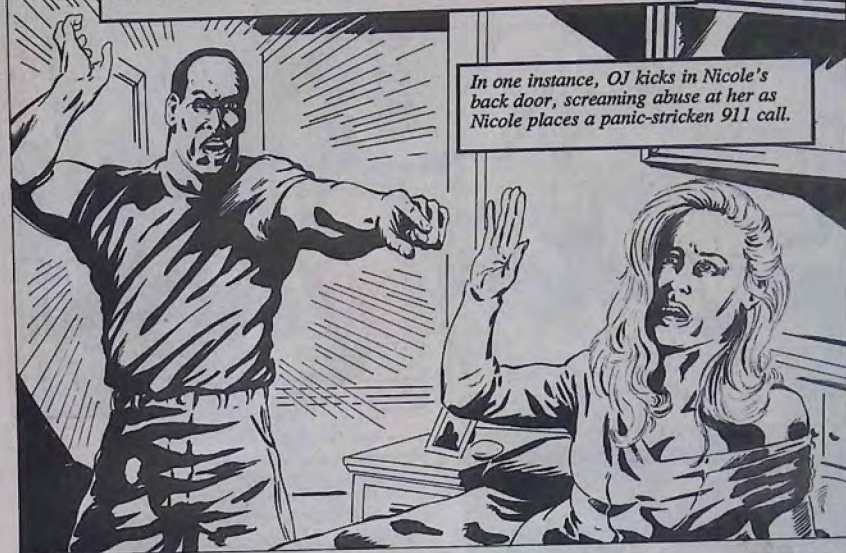

They find Nicole bruised and cowering in the bushes. OJ, who has fled the scene, is later arrested.

After pleading no contest to the charges, OJ receives just a $970 fine and psychiatric counseling, much of which is conducted by phone.

But the writing is on the wall for the Simpson's marriage, and in 1992, they divorce.

But the separation isn't permanent. The Simpsons attempt a number of reconciliations, all of which are sabotaged by OJ's jealousy.

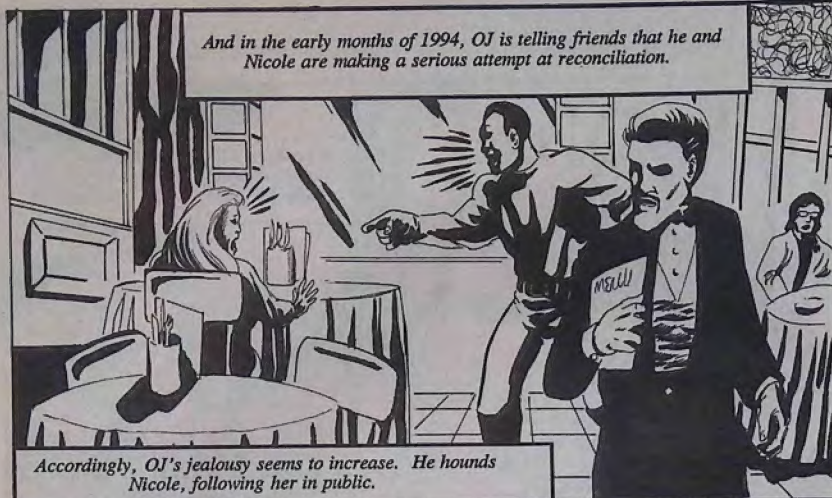

In one instance, OJ kicks in Nicole's back door, screaming abuse at her as Nicole places a panic-stricken 911 call.

In the typical pattern followed by battered spouses, Nicole finds herself unable to break from OJ — even though the abuse is increasingly physical. And despite numerous incidents and calls to police, the Simpsons remain involved.

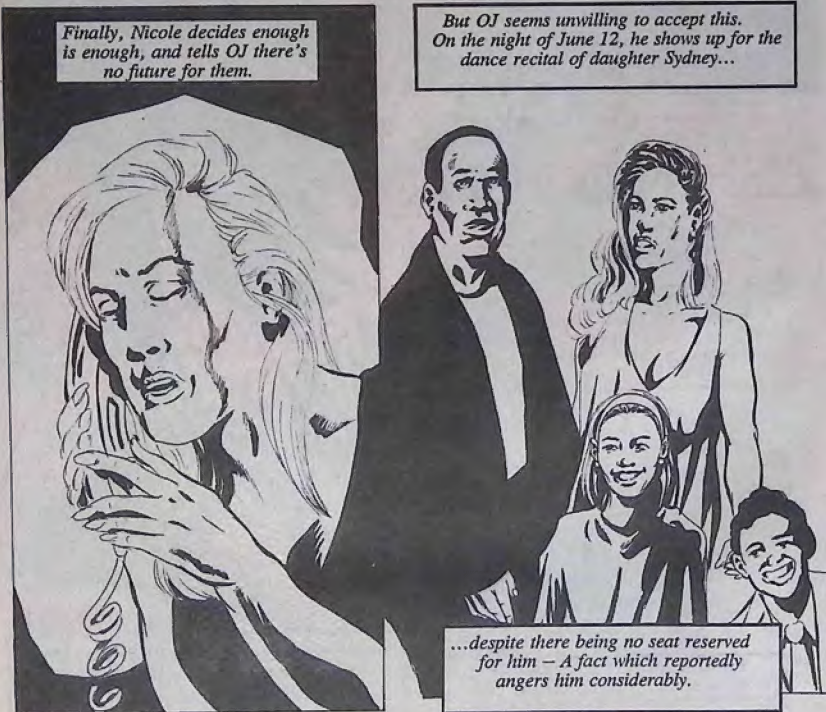

And in the early months of 1994, OJ is telling friends that he and Nicole are making a serious attempt at reconciliation.

Accordingly, OJ's jealousy seems to increase. He hounds Nicole, following her in public.

Finally, Nicole decides enough is enough, and tells OJ there's no future for them.

But OJ seems unwilling to accept this. On the night of June 12, he shows up for the dance recital of daughter Sydney...

...despite there being no seat reserved for him - A fact which reportedly angers him considerably.

After the recital, Nicole, together with her children and friends, visits the posh local restaurant Mezzaluna.

OJ goes home.

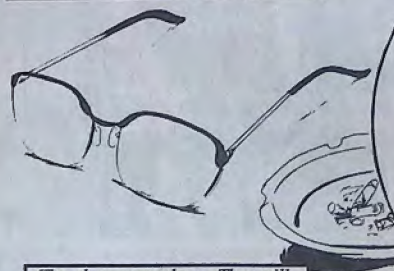

Nicole leaves the restaurant about 8:30 PM, returning to her $650,000 townhouse...

Her children go to bed.

At home, Nicole realizes she's left her prescription sunglasses at the restaurant, and calls Mezzaluna.

Ron Goldman, a waiter at Mezzaluna, volunteer's to drop them at Nicole's.

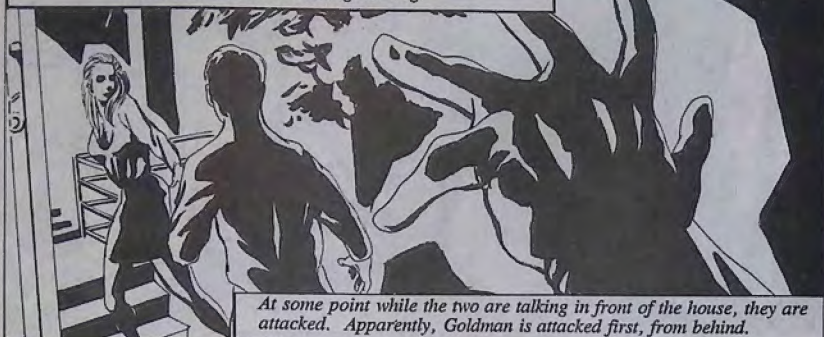

The glasses are there. They will cost a man his life by night's end

Goldman, a model and aspiring actor, is a friend of Nicole's, though both deny there is any romantic link between them.

What happens next is conjecture, but according to police reports, Goldman arrives between 10 and 10:30. Nicole greets him outside, where she is walking her dog.

At some point while the two are talking in front of the house, they are attacked. Apparently, Goldman is attacked first, from behind.

Goldman receives 22 stab wounds, many of which are "defense wounds" on his hands and arms. This indicates a struggle occurred.

Somehow, despite the struggle, OJ is able to prevent Nicole from fleeing.

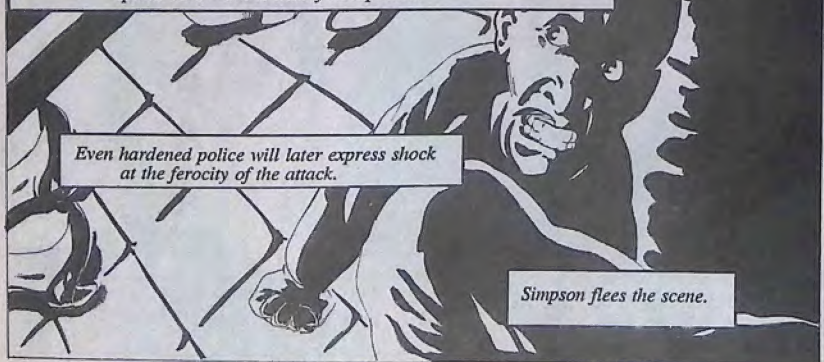

His right ear is nearly severed by the serrated assault knife.

He now turns on her.

Nicole also receives multiple wounds, and her throat is slashed to the spinal cord. She is nearly decapitated.

Even hardened police will later express shock at the ferocity of the attack.

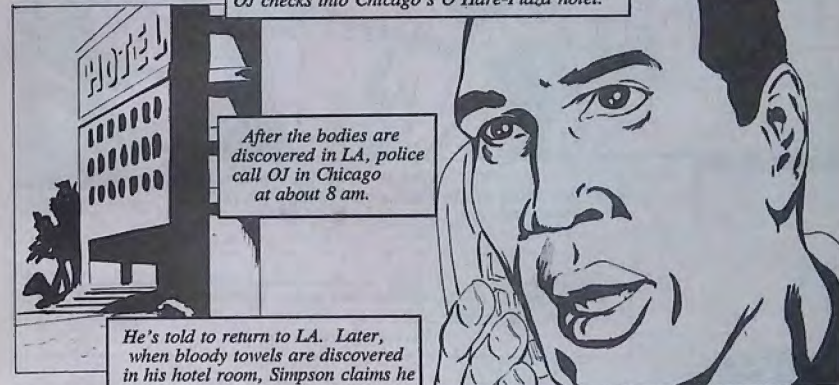

Simpson flees the scene.

Later, at approximately 10:45, a limousine arrives at OJ's $5 million mansion to take him to LAX airport for a flight to Chicago.

OJ is flying there for a Hertz golf tournament.

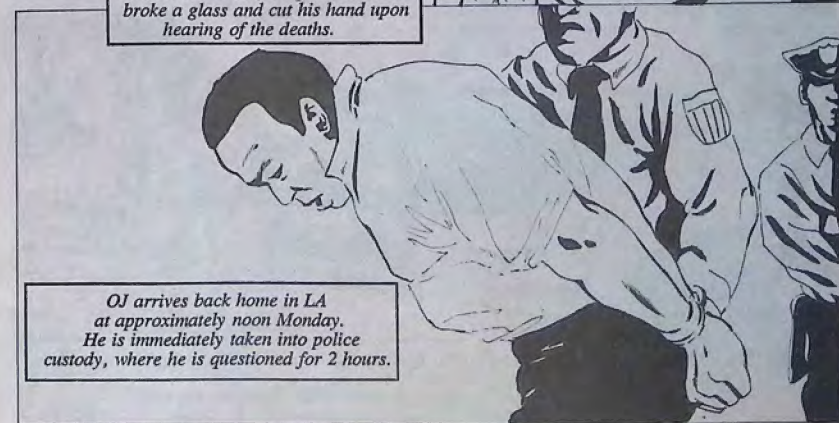

At approximately 7:30 am Monday, OJ checks into Chicago's O'Hare-Plaza hotel.

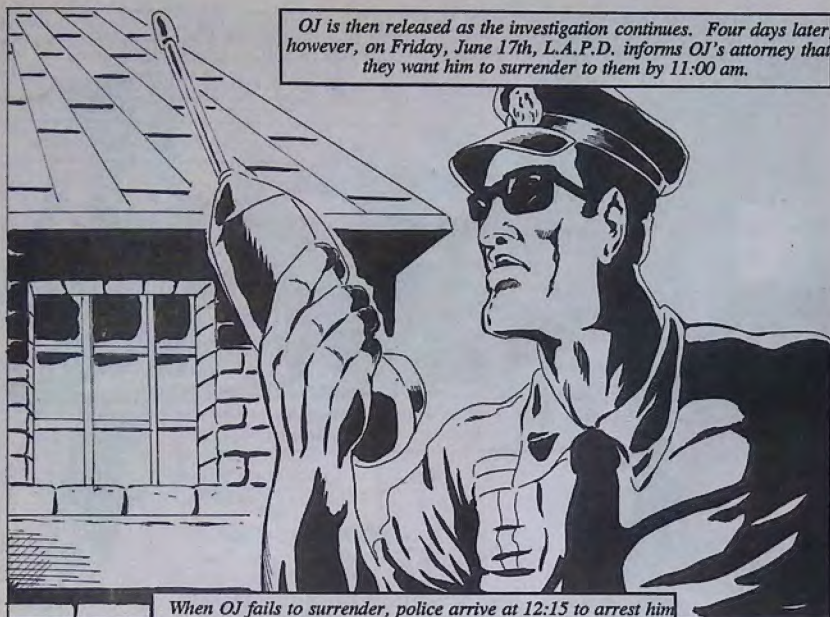

After the bodies are discovered in LA, police call OJ in Chicago at about 8 am.

He's told to return to LA. Later, when bloody towels are discovered in his hotel room, Simpson claims he broke a glass and cut his hand upon hearing of the deaths.

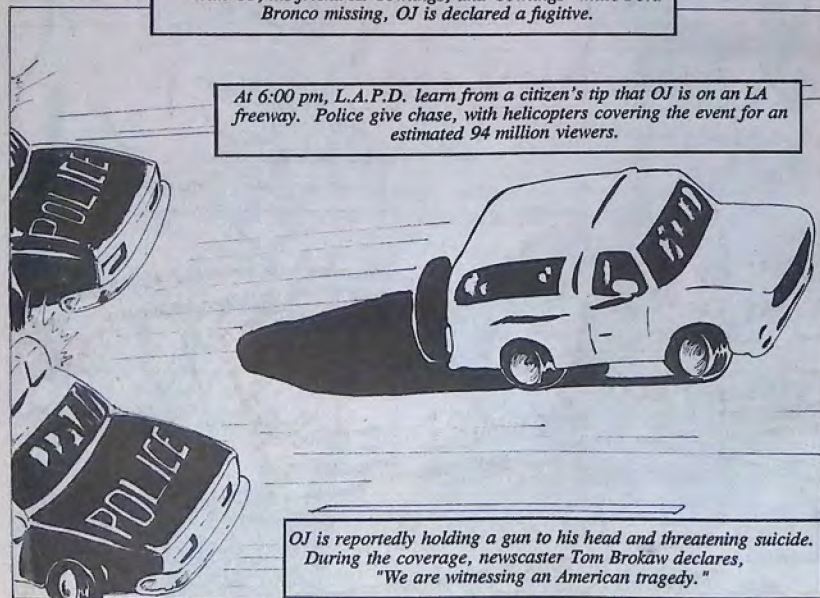

OJ arrives back home in LA at approximately noon Monday. He is immediately taken into police custody, where he is questioned for 2 hours.

OJ is then released as the investigation continues. Four days later however, on Friday, June 17th, L.A.P.D. informs OJ's attorney that they want him to surrender to them by 11:00 am.

When OJ fails to surrender, police arrive at 12:15 to arrest him. With OJ, his friend Al Cowlings, and Cowlings' white Ford Bronco missing, OJ is declared a fugitive.

At 6:00 pm, L.A.P.D. learn from a citizen's tip that OJ is on an LA freeway. Police give chase, with helicopters covering the event for an estimated 94 million viewers.

OJ is reportedly holding a gun to his head and threatening suicide. During the coverage, newscaster Tom Brokaw declares, "We are witnessing an American tragedy."

Through conversations by cellular phone, OJ is convinced to go home, and then, to surrender. A tense moment occurs when OJ's son Jason approaches the car, but he is waved off by Cowlings.

After his surrender, OJ is officially taken into custody and charged with 2 counts of murder.

And as the media mourns a fallen hero...

The true victims await justice.

The Cast

1. O.J. Simpson -- The Accused.
2. Ronald Goldman -- Victim #1.
3. Nicole Brown Simpson -- Victim #2.
4. Robert Shapiro -- Top-notch L.A. defense attorney leading OJ's legal team. Has defended such notables as Darryl Strawberry, Vince Coleman, Michael Jackson, Christian Brando, and F. Lee Bailey (for drunk driving). Known as a deal-maker.
5. Alan Dershowitz -- Harvard law professor and member of OJ's defense team who was probably recruited to work on appeal issues. Larry Fine meets Clarence Darrow.
6. F. Lee Bailey -- Member of OJ's defense team. One of the most celebrated trial attorneys ever.
7. Gerald Uelman -- Fourth member of OJ's defense team. Dean of the Santa Clara Law School and responsible for the motion to disband the Grand Jury as well as the motion to suppress the evidence taken from OJ's estate. The Captain Kangaroo of jurisprudence.
8. Marcia Clark -- Lead prosecutor. Excellent trial attorney with a reputation as one tough chick.
9. William Hodgman -- Co-counsel to Marcia Clark. Expert trial attorney capable of handling very complex cases. Responsible for nailing the ever-popular Charles Keating.
10. Gil Garcetti -- Head of the L.A. District Attorney's Office whose winning percentage is approaching New York Met levels.
11. Kathleen Kennedy Powell -- Municipal Court Judge at the preliminary hearing. Former member of Los Angeles D.A.'s office in the sex abuse department.
12. Rosey Grier -- Former football star turned minister. Has been counseling OJ in prison.
13. Al Cowlings -- Extremely loyal lifelong friend of OJ. Drove the Bronco on the now infamous L.A. Grand Prix, and celebrated by dirty dancing with L.A. porn stars a week later.
14. Brian (Kato) Kaelin -- OJ's houseboy who would neither confirm nor rebut OJ's alibi.
15. Keith Zlomsowitch -- Local skell who was caught by O.J. having sex with Nicole. The subject of OJ's rantings heard on the infamous 911 call.
16. Paula Barbieri -- On-again, off-again OJ plaything who the Juice dated the night before the murders. Adamantly insists on OJ's innocence.
